Omaha beach is surprisingly fun and interesting. Saint Vikht is epic and desperate. Favorite scenarios (overall, in order of appearance): Djebel Abiod Kasserine battle El Guettar Mateur Messina Salerno landing Defence of Salerno beachhead Operation Diadem Anzio landing Anzio defence Omaha Beach Caen Sankt Vith Spoilers: Operation Unthinkable was somewhat of a let down. More of a mindless slog than a true battle, the Soviets weren't really doing anything strategically. Could use some more dynamic events and counter-attacks.. I've enjoyed this series and this dlc was well worth the five bucks they charge. The scenarios were all varied and challenging. If you already own the first two, grabbing this one is a no-brainer.. PC Steam This DLC probably took about 30 hours to complete. US Corps 44-45 was my final DLC to play through. It was a solid affair and it is really difficult taking on some of those superior Axis armour units. All in all, a fine DLC that ends with a massive hypothetical slugfest taking on the Russians after Berlin falls. DLC 7/10 - Not as good as Soviet Corps or the hypothetical Sealion. I've now completed every Panzer Corps DLC, including the full Grand Campaign. I've clocked up over 500 hours on Steam, although I started the Grand Campaign before it was even released on Steam. Slitherine did a great job allowing owners of the original boxed game port their game and purchased DLC into the Steam library. Overall, I love playing Panzer Corps, but I will put it aside now as I eagerly await the release of Panzer Corps 2. I'll finally also have a change to try out Order of Battle..
